For twenty years I have been afflicted with a dreadful blood poison, and during all those years I have had the best medical advice in the country, the physicians prescribing the only remedies known, such as Mercury and Iodide of Pottassium, all to no purpose. I was six months in Bellevue Hospital and became so bad that I despaired of getting well. I then, through advice, went to Europe and tried some of the best physicians there with same results, and I returned again to this country. Finally I went to New Orleans, being told that the French doctors understood the treatment of my case better, and perhaps could cure me. Alas, however, after taking more mercury and potassium from them, I became to much worse that I gave up to die. So much worse that I gave up to die. So had had I become that I was sight.
